Orca Ships New Three-Layer Damping Material Under Black Hole Brand

Black Hole Mat eliminates vibration for superior sound control

CAMARILLO, CALIF., June 1, 2020 (MEDIAWIRE) – Orca Design and Manufacturing, supplier of premium audio brands and accessories for the North American market, announced it is shipping the latest addition to its Black Hole line of sound damping products. Black Hole Mat is a three-layer material designed to eliminate rattle and vibration in door panels and other metal surfaces. Combined with other noise-damping solutions in the Black Hole Line, Black Hole Mat completes a premium, end-to-end noise elimination solution for the vehicle.

Black Hole Mat is delivered in 11-square-foot, self-adhesive sheets measuring 20 inches by 79 inches. Its three components include butyl rubber and closed-cell damping foam with a shape-retaining aluminum layer. At only 4.5 millimeters in thickness, the sheets can easily be cut to size to fit behind door, dash or interior panels, with ample capability to stretch and form around irregular surfaces without heating.

“Our retailers told us they wanted a complete solution that they can access through their existing dealer programs,” said ORCA Sales Director Nalaka Adikari. “For the past year we have really worked to create it with the Black Hole line, most recently adding Black Hole Tape. The addition of Black Hole Mat is yet another step in helping Orca dealers deliver better sound-damping performance to their customers.”
